

manager? What was the estimated cost? And were they responsive to our dozen or so questions?

We have had a few stars in this affair that have been working on this problem systematically. We see that the Agency for International Development [AID]—responsible for foreign aid operations, Office of Personnel Management [OPM], Small Business, and, most important, the Social Security Administration received an "A." The Social Security "A" is really the first of the "A"s. Social Security did not need any prod. In Social Security, an able staff has been working on this problem—and rightly so—since 1989. They believe that by 1998 they will complete going through all of the Social Security files which affect people's benefits and pensions. We gave a very strong "A" to them.

These are only two in the "B" category. By the way, I do not grade on a curve. As a professor, I graded on an absolute. Education is in the "B" category. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is a "B". Then after those six there are 18 below them. The three "C"s, are followed by 10 "D"s and 4 "F"s. And there are dozens of other agencies that comprise all of the rest of the Federal Government.

Serious attention needs to be given to this by the responsible officials in the White House who coordinate management matters within the executive branch. They are a little weak on that. But the Office of Management and Budget needs to give this effort its full attention because both the appropriations and authorizing committees of the House will be expecting them to ask for the needed resources, or have a plan to reprogram the needed resources.

Let's get on with it. It is a serious problem that could affect each of us.

Mr. Speaker, I include for the RECORD the following material in connection with my remarks:

	Grade	Does the agency have a year 2000 plan?	Is there a year 2000 program manager?	Does the agency have any cost estimates for year 2000 solution?	Did the agency respond to the questions?

IN MEMORY OF AUGUSTA HORNBLOWER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. TORKILDSEN] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. TORKILDSEN. Mr. Speaker, tonight I rise in affectionate remembrance of a good friend and a great Republican, Augusta "Gusty" Hornblower.

Earlier today the House voted to name the Post Office in Gusty's hometown in her honor. Gusty Hornblower was an unwavering selfless public servant. This post office, this public space, is a fitting tribute to a woman who devoted her life to the citizens of Massachusetts.

As a sophomore on summer break from UMass-Amherst, I first met this courageous woman when we were both working on a congressional campaign. I was awed by her sense of humor, her political acumen, her colorful personality, and, most of all, her sense of commitment. Later we would both be elected to the Massachusetts House in the class of 1984 and serve together in the Committee on Taxation. There was one thing that Gusty could always be counted on to do and that was advocate for a tax cut any time of the year.

In addition to serving five terms in the Massachusetts House, Gusty sat on many boards and community efforts and worked tirelessly to preserve the Commonwealth's rich cultural heritage. She served on the Board of Overseers of the Plimoth Plantation, founded by her father Henry Hornblower II and on the board of trustees of the Schwamb Mill Preservation Trust. She also held a seat on the Martha's Vineyard Commission.

Toward the end of her life, Gusty bravely battled breast cancer, using her increasingly scarce time and energy to advocate for breast cancer education, research and awareness. Those
